About Aline

Aline Ramos Poelaert is an associate in the International Dispute Resolution Practice based in the Paris office. Her practice focuses exclusively on international arbitration.

Aline is a French and Mexican national, specialising in international commercial arbitration and investor-state disputes. Her practice focuses on complex international disputes involving energy, pipelines, joint ventures and infrastructure projects in Latin America, conducted under various procedural rules, including those of the ICC, LCIA, ICDR, UNCITRAL and ICSID, and governed by various legal systems. She also has experience assisting arbitral tribunals in both commercial and investment international arbitrations.

She holds a master's degree from Panthéon-Assas university in Paris and is admitted to practice law in Mexico and Paris. Fluent in both Spanish and French as native languages, she is also proficient in English.

Prior to joining the firm in 2021, Aline worked as a lawyer in a top-tier international law firm in Mexico City for more than four years, advising both Mexican and foreign companies in numerous high-profile arbitration proceedings. She also has experience assisting arbitral tribunals in both commercial and investment international arbitrations.
