About David

David Park advises on complex, high-stakes disputes across Asia and the Middle East. He has particular expertise in arbitrations arising out of major construction and energy projects; high-value cross-border investments, and M&A transactions. As counsel, he has advised on many of the region's largest disputes, and is known for his work representing Korea's largest conglomerates.

David has acted as counsel in arbitrations under all major institutional and procedural rules, including the ICC, DIAC, LCIA, SIAC, HKIAC, KCAB and UNCITRAL. While working in the Middle East and Asia, he has advised on disputes across a wide range of sectors, including general commercial, construction, oil and gas, energy, mining, technology, investments and M&A.

A native Korean speaker, David combines international arbitration expertise with language capabilities and a strong understanding of Korean business practices. He has represented many of Korea's leading construction, energy and technology companies in high-value disputes across multiple jurisdictions.

Prior to joining the firm, David practised in the international arbitration teams of two other leading international law firms in Singapore and Seoul.
