About Estelle

Estelle Vernejoul specialises in real estate, construction and urban planning law, with core expertise in litigation and dispute resolution.

She has a general background in commercial, civil and administrative litigation, gained from experience at previous leading law firms and then her own law firm.

Estelle assists her clients in their real estate and construction contractual management (including commercial leases, letters of intent, property deeds and construction agreements).

Estelle has developed a strong practice in assisting property developers in their activities, being able to support them throughout their construction projects. She provides her clients with pragmatic and efficient advice, having a very good knowledge of the construction sector.

Experience

- Assisting the growth of a French property developer in all its construction projects (including advice and litigation).
