About Kennon

Kennon Kincaid is a senior executive, former US diplomat and trusted strategic advisor with deep experience at the intersection of global affairs, leadership and organizational performance.

He serves as a senior advisor to our firm, and as CEO of one of the world's largest executive search and leadership advisory firms.

During more than a decade in the US Foreign Service, Kennon represented American interests across Europe, Africa and Asia Pacific, working on political strategy, security cooperation, commercial diplomacy and high-stakes negotiations with foreign leaders. After government service, he led international business development, security operations and government relations for a NASDAQ-listed aerospace and space-launch company, giving him firsthand experience navigating complex global markets and the operational realities of high-growth, mission-critical industries.

Kennon now advises CEOs, boards, investors and government leaders on geopolitical risk, organizational strategy, leadership selection and talent architecture. He brings a rare combination of diplomatic experience, commercial execution and an unparalleled network of senior decision-makers across industries and geographies, making him a highly effective partner for clients facing consequential strategic and leadership challenges.
