About Le Jing

Le Jing Ong is a corporate lawyer in the firm's global Corporate Practice, with a focus on cross-border mergers and acquisitions, strategic investments, joint ventures and corporate restructurings, in a range of sectors.

Le Jing advises multinational corporates, private equity and venture capital investors, family offices and listed companies on complex buy-side and sell-side M&A transactions, minority and control investments, carve-outs, distressed acquisitions and post-acquisition integration matters across Asia Pacific. Her experience spans transactions involving technology platforms, telecommunications services, life sciences and data-driven businesses, often with multijurisdictional regulatory and structuring considerations.

In addition to her M&A practice, Le Jing has a strong background in capital markets and financing transactions, allowing her to advise seamlessly on acquisition financing, equity and equity-linked investments and exit-driven structuring. She regularly works with clients at the intersection of M&A and capital markets, including transactions involving listed acquirers, pre-initial public offering (IPO) restructurings and growth capital investments.
