About Matthew

Matthew Holman leads the Corporate Practice in our Phoenix office, where he focuses his practice on corporate and securities matters, with a particular emphasis on mergers and acquisitions, securities law, corporate governance, commercial contracts and outside general counsel work.

Matthew's M&A experience includes representing parties in domestic and international mergers, stock and asset acquisitions, tender offers and joint ventures where he has guided clients through every stage of the deal process. He has led companies and private equity firms in complex multijurisdictional acquisition and divestiture transactions across a wide range of industries, including life sciences, technology, manufacturing, software, retail and industrial products. He excels at complex, cross-border transactions, navigating inbound and outbound deals for global clients.

In addition, Matthew has represented issuers and underwriters in a wide range of capital markets transactions including initial public offerings, secondary offerings, debt offerings, private placements, exchange offers and private transactions. His counsel is sought after by public companies navigating periodic Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) reporting and general securities matters.

Matthew has acted as outside corporate counsel to both publicly-traded and privately-held companies delivering strategic guidance that aligns legal frameworks with business goals. He also routinely counsels companies and boards with respect to corporate governance and officer and director duties.

His leadership, insight and commitment to excellence is appreciated by his clients. Ranked among top tier practitioners by Chambers USA, clients have shared that "he is exceptionally responsive, demonstrates a deep technical knowledge and consistently delivers practical, business-focused advice," as well as "he is a fantastic corporate lawyer: amazing attention to detail and stellar in his ability to move complex matters forward expediently."
