About Rin

Orintha (Rin) Karns brings over 18 years of experience advising clients in the environmental, energy and natural resources sector on litigation, real property and transactional matters.

Rin works closely with clients to understand their business objectives, devising strategic and efficient solutions to achieve their goals. Her expertise includes managing claims arising from contracts, development agreements with municipalities, breach of representations and warranties, fraud, business divorce, shareholder disputes, business torts, negligence and product liability.

Rin's deep-rooted experience in title preparation underscores her proficiency in counseling corporate clients on complex environmental and energy litigation and deals. She also has significant experience with regulatory and transactional matters, including rulemaking and rule challenges, mergers and acquisitions, agreements, title opinions and more. She regularly assists clients in obtaining zoning, permitting and land use approvals, as well as securing development agreements and developing regulatory compliance programs.

For the first 11 years of her legal career, Rin practiced in Wyoming, regularly appearing before the Wyoming Supreme Court and District Courts. She was also elected as the Wyoming Bar Commissioner for the Seventh Judicial District from 2009 to 2012.
