About Steven

Steve Auvil is the managing partner of our Cleveland office and previously served as leader of the US litigation segment of the firm's Intellectual Property & Technology Practice Group for nearly a decade. His practice focuses on intellectual property (IP) and technology disputes. Based on experience as an engineer and patent lawyer, Steve is familiar with a wide variety of technologies, including control systems, power electronics, communication systems, medical devices, steel production, complex mechanical systems and software systems. Steve is listed in Chambers USA Leading Lawyers (Band 1), The Best Lawyers in America and Forbes' inaugural Best-in-State Lawyers for 2025.

In more than 25 years of practicing law, Steve has served as lead trial counsel and successfully represented clients in numerous patent, trade secret, copyright and trademark/trade dress cases in federal district courts throughout the US. In addition to successfully trying cases to verdict, he has argued patent-related appeals before the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. In addition, he has handled numerous disputes before US administrative agencies, including section 337 actions before the US International Trade Commission and IPR proceedings before the Patent Trial and Appeals Board. Steve has also tried IP-related disputes before arbitration tribunals.

While Steve's practice focus is on disputes, he has considerable non-litigation experience, including counseling clients on IP matters, preparing and prosecuting patent applications, and negotiating agreements that involve IP. He has been appointed by the WIPO Arbitration and Mediation Center as an arbitrator in more than 75 domain name disputes.

Steve is a current or past member of numerous professional organizations, including the American Bar Association, the Naples Roundtable, Cleveland Intellectual Property Law Association (CIPLA), ITC Trial Lawyers Association and the Federal Circuit Bar Association. He is a Fellow of the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Foundation.

Steve is a frequent speaker on IP law topics and has addressed to clients, industry groups and IP organizations throughout the US and abroad on a wide variety of intellectual property law topics. He previously taught a patent law and practice course as an adjunct faculty member of the Cleveland State University College of Law. He has been quoted in numerous news articles relating to intellectual property matters, including those appearing in Law360, Bloomberg Law and World Intellectual Property Review.

Steve is a past-president of CIPLA, he previously held a number of leadership positions in American Intellectual Property Law Association, and he was the inaugural president of The Kathleen M. O'Malley American Inn of Court.

Steve is also civically active in Greater Cleveland. He is currently on the board and vice-chair of Team NEO Foundation, a regional economic development organization; a trustee of the Playhouse Square Foundation, which operates one of the largest performing arts centers in the US; and a board member of The City Club of Cleveland, a non-partisan free speech forum. He is also a member of The 50 Club of Cleveland, an invitation-only civic organization of top business, professional and cultural leaders, as well as active in government affairs council of the Greater Cleveland Partnership, the region's chamber of commerce. He previously served on the board of the American Red Cross, Northeast Ohio Region (2019-2025) and was a member of the Cleveland Leadership Center's Leadership Cleveland Class of 2024.
