

Infrastructure

Efficient, integrated and reliable infrastructure is essential to support any national economy. Infrastructure is therefore a key concern of any Government worldwide. Billions of Dollars are being invested in infrastructure by Governments in the growing economies, often in partnership with the private sector. In the United Kingdom, the Government has recognised that decades of under-investment must be reversed.

Hammonds has a team of lawyers with unrivalled experience in this sector.

ESTABLISHED SECTOR EXPERIENCE

Our team advises in all areas related to infrastructure from planning, procurement, development agreements, construction, dispute avoidance/resolution, regulatory issues and the operation of infrastructure.

PROVEN TRACK-RECORD IN THE SECTOR

We act for the full range of clients from national Governments, funders, project providers, suppliers, as well as owners and operators. This places us in a unique position with a thorough understanding of the risks, liabilities and obligations of all parties in the sector.

EXTENSIVE INDUSTRY INVOLVEMENT

We have advised numerous clients in relation to air, road, rail and ports projects and play a key role in advising upon the issues arising on projects in the sector, seeking to manage the cost and minimise the risk to our client.

TRAINING

We can also undertake training programmes for key stakeholders in the sector. The training we provide ranges from contract procurement and formation to good project management and dispute avoidance/resolution. We also provide training in the bespoke forms of contract used in the sector, including numerous seminars on the NEC3 form of contract.

“A serious construction player with squadrons of assistants at its disposal, this firm has a fine network of offices...”
